HOUSE OF LORDS, Monday, December 10.

The House met pursuant to their adjournment of Wednesday last.
The House rose at a quarter after five o'clock, and adjourned till Friday.

From the London Papers, Dec. 11.
LONDON.

A correspondent from Court, whose communications we have always found entitled to the utmost respect, informs us, with every expression of confidence, that the three following arrangements have been acceded to in the Cabinet:

1. That the American war shall be persevered in—the mode to be governed by contingencies, no settled system being yet agreed upon.
  2. That Sir Henry Clinton be immediately recalled. And that,
  3. Sir Guy Carlton, who had a previous command in that quarter, and was superseded on the appointment of General Burgoyne, be appointed Commander in Chief in his room, of all his Majesty's forces in that quarter, and joint Commissioner, for forming terms of peace with Congress, with Admiral Digby, who is to take the chief command of the fleet after the departure of Admiral Graves. —Eng. Chron.
- It is very certain that a change is now meditated in the Administration, but by no means such a one as promises with it a change of political system. The whole alteration will be this, that the Secretary for the American department will go out, and one of the ministerial corps be selected for his successor. The Lord Chancellor and Lord Sandwich have expressed the most direct disapprobation of the plan which has been presented to the Cabinet for the future conduct of the American war. The known influence which the first of these noble Lords possesses in the Council, puts the resignation of the American Secretary, therefore, almost beyond doubt. If this resignation should take place, it is believed Lord Weymouth will be the person appointed to fill that important department, his friendship with the Chancellor making him by much the most likely man of all the unemployed partizans of the present administration.

The report that has so universally diffused in the morning prints, of General Vaughan's return to the West Indies, to take upon him the chief command of his Majesty's troops in that quarter, is entirely erroneous; the fact being, that this appointment was conferred upon Gen. Matthews four months ago, and that General is now at Portsmouth in preparation to embark on board the Conqueror, the ship selected for conveying Sir George Rodney with the first fair wind.

Even bets were offered yesterday upon the event of the vote for supplies to-morrow. The question whether the war in America shall be continued, is intended to be brought on, and from the general complexion of the House, it is thought that the Minister will be left in a minority upon that question.

It is expected, from the number of country members, and other men of great property, who are arrived in town within these few days, to take a part in the important debate expected in the House of Commons to-morrow, all of whom are determined to oppose the supplies, unless assurances are given that the American war will be given up. Bets were offered yesterday that they would count at least 200 members, which considering the weight of influence thrown in the opposition scale, will be a decisive proof of the sense of the nation respecting that measure.

On Saturday night a board of Admiralty was held, when Colonel Ferguson was dispatched express to Admiral Rodney.

The following is a list of the packets which government expect shortly to arrive, viz. Swallow from New-York; Duke, from Charlestown; Antelope, from Leeward Islands; and Thynne, from Jamaica.

Ministry are quite uneasy at not having yet heard from Charlestown, especially since the battle of the 8th of September, now three months ago; but as the French have received their accounts of it, we may soon expect ours. From their situation, or from some other cause, they are always in possession of the news first, added to which, their ships are generally faster sailers.

Yesterday, at Guildhall, No. 12,628 was drawn a prize of 2000 l.

No. 12,435, 47,185, prizes of 1000 l.
No. 9507, a prize of 500 l.
No. 39,680, a prize of 100 l.
And the following prizes of 50 l. each:
No. 5292, 7118, 9795, 18,036, 18,503, 19,880, 25,664, 21,581, 29,569, 42,647, 42,951.
This day, at Guildhall, No. 45,591, 13,935, were drawn prizes of 1000 l.
No. 7605, 2545, prizes of 500 l.
No. 7235, 41,593, 42,934, prizes of 100 l.
And the following prizes of 50 l. each:
No. 1870, 43,634, 18,375, 17,719, 23,064, 22,594, 898, 25,231, 6003, 31,075, 16,944.

EDINBURGH.

Extract of a letter from London, Dec. 11.

"Yesterday, an appeal from the Court of Session in Scotland, came on to be heard at the bar of the House of Lords, wherein Mr. Waddell was appellant, and Mr. Russell respondent. The Lord Advocate appeared as counsel for the appellant, and opened to their Lordships by observing, that the cause of dispute lay more in the feuds and animosities of the parties, than in the merits. It was concerning the access of the respondent to a well, which lay at the boundaries of their contiguous estates, but which, by the admeasurement of the Sheriff, had been deemed within the limits of the appellant, in consequence whereof he had inclosed it. The respondent pleading access thereto, time immemorial, in order to recover his right, had broke down part of the inclosure, which produced a conflict of litigation, in which the respondent had recovered five or six judgments in different Courts, before the Deputy Sheriff, the Sheriff, the Lord Ordinary, and the Lords of Session, against the latter of which this appeal was brought.

"Mr. Erskine followed the Lord Advocate on the same side, in a very able and pertinent speech.

"Mr. Attorney-General, for the respondent, took the ground which the Lord Advocate had given him, admitting, that the cause lay in litigiousness, but alledging that that was with the appellant, who wished to deprive his client of that very necessary and useful article, water, and thereby drive him from his estate, and out of the country, as he had no ground to dig a well, but what was boggy and unwholesome; whereas it was admitted on both sides, that this water was not only culinary, but medicinal.

"Mr. Macdonald supported the arguments used by the Attorney-General.

"The Lord Advocate made a short reply.

"The Lord Chancellor, after recapitulating the whole matter, concluded with observing, that it was one of the most litigious suits that ever was brought into that House, or perhaps in any other court of justice. He should therefore have been for discharging the appeal with costs, but that the respondent had broken down fifteen fathom of the fence, in order to get at the well. The judgment of the Court of Session of Scotland was therefore affirmed.

"The Lords then adjourned till Friday.

"The Speaker of the House of Commons having, with much difficulty, made a house, several matters of course were transacted, but nothing worth reporting occurred, except that Sir James Lowther signified, upon the third reading of the malt bill being moved for, that he had the same objections this year as he had the last, to an additional tax on malt, and should therefore oppose it.

"Sir Grey Cooper informed the Honourable Baronet, that it was not the extraordinary, but the ordinary malt bill that was before the House; upon which Sir James lay down.

"The American Habeas Corpus bill was read a third time and passed.

"The House of Commons is expected to be crowded in an uncommon degree to-morrow, when the army estimates will be laid before the House, and the troops moved for that will be wanted for the service of the ensuing year. By this, the question, Whether the American war is to be continued, or not? will be reduced to a certainty. The Treasury letters are out to-night, for the attendance of every friend to Government, while the minority (to be entitled in future the constitutional members) are moving heaven and earth in procuring a majority. A great number of country members have arrived in town in the course of the present week.

"Five hundred of the Guards were kept under arms at the Horse Guards, all day, on Monday, during the meeting of the Westminster electors in Westminster-hall, in order to have quelled any riot that might have happened. Lord Sheffield's Horse were also kept saddled; but no disorder whatever happened, though upwards of 10,000 people assembled on the occasion.

"The Dutch men of war and convoy getting through the Downs, is much talked as a shameful piece of neglect. The commander is said to have been on shore at the time, and is to be called to an account for it.—The Westminster meeting for petitioning, &c. was more numerous a great deal than the London meeting at Guildhall. It is much doubted if they will be able to make the London meeting one of any validity; for, besides the well-known objections there is to the legality of calling the Livery together for any purpose but elections, the number was so small (not 300 in all) that it cannot seriously be said to be a meeting of the Livery of London. But any thing goes down with our modern patriots that tends to embarrass Government.

"Several conferences have been held this week between the leaders of Ministry and opposition, respecting a change in the Administration; but nothing is yet determined upon. The Minority insists upon Mr. Rigby's going out; but the Bedford party will by no means agree to it.

"A compromise has taken place between the son of a noble Lord (lately in the House of Commons) and a gentleman, insulted some time ago at the Exhibition at Somerset-house. The terms on which it has been made are, five hundred pounds paid down to the party offended, with his silence for ever on the subject.

We are informed, that, on Wednesday last, the Treasurer of the Caledonian Hunt, by order of the honourable members of that Society, paid in to the office of the Theatre Royal, Ten Guineas, as an encouragement to the Manager to persevere in his endeavours to entertain the Public.

SALE OF LANDS in FORFAR-SHIRE.

TO be SOLD by public roup, within the Exchange Coffeehouse of Edinburgh, upon Thursday the 17th of January 1782, betwixt the hours of five and six afternoon.

ALL and WHOLE the LANDS of OVER PITFORTHIE, and others after mentioned, in the following lots, viz.

LOT I.

The Lands of OVER PITFORTHIE, and part of the Lands of CALDHAME, lying within the parish of Brechin and shire of Forfar, about one mile from Brechin. The yearly free rent of these lands is about 150 l. sterling, converting the vicinal at 10 s. per boll; but for crop 1781, and during the remainder of the lease of the Maids, the tenant thereof is bound to pay 20 l. sterling of additional rent. The lands are of a good soil, and there are proper farm-houses and office-houses for the accommodation of the estate. The proprietor has right to the teinds, which are valued.

The purchaser of the above lot will be entitled to vote for a member of Parliament.

LOT II.

The Lands of MUIRLAND-DEN, lying within the said parish of Brechin and shire of Forfar, about a mile distant from Brechin. These lands are only about 10 l. sterling of yearly rent. On this lot there is a large plantation, mostly of fir, with some other wood of different kinds, which, by a survey lately made, is valued at 300 l. sterling. The lands have also been lately measured, and consist of about 70 acres. Muirland-den holds of the town of Brechin, for payment of 1 l. 1 s. 3 d. sterling of feu-duty.

LOT III.

The Lands of NEWTON, lying within the parish of Strickathrow and shire of Forfar. These lands consist of near 200 Scots acres, a considerable part of which is arable. As this estate has been for these several years past in the possession of the proprietor, there is a considerable improvement made on it, by inclosing with stone-dykes, and partly with earth fences. There is also a convenient steading for the accommodation of the farm, which a purchaser may have immediate access to. The lands lie within two miles of Brechin. This lot holds of the Crown, and the proprietor thereof has right to the teinds, which are valued.

The progress of writs, which is clear, the articles of roup, and the tacks of the lands, are to be seen in the hands of James Hay, clerk to the signet.

For further particulars, persons intending to purchase may apply to John Lyon of Kinnaird, Esq; at Dundee; to Mr Thomas Stewart, town-clerk of Montrose; to Mr John Smith, at Brechin; to the proprietor, at Newtonmill; or to the said James Hay; and the grievance upon Newton will show the different lands.
